

THE UNIVERSITY of NEW MEXICO

SCHOOL of ENGINEERING

Department of Civil Engineering

University of New Mexico Department of Civil Engineering
Lecturer Position in Construction Engineering and Management

The Civil Engineering (CE) Department at the University of New Mexico invites applications for a full-time non-tenure track faculty teaching position in Construction Engineering and Management.

As a result of sustained growth in the Construction Engineering and Construction Management programs over the last decade, CE seeks to fill the full-time non-tenure track faculty teaching position at the Lecturer II level to begin in the fall semester 2018. The candidate will be expected to contribute to the Department's strategic focus on sustainable infrastructure.

Candidates must have an earned Master's degree in Construction Management, Civil Engineering, Business Administration, or a closely related discipline.

Preferred qualifications for the position are a minimum of 5 years of US construction industry experience, and teaching experience in Construction Engineering and Management. Specific areas of interest include, but are not limited to: Cost Estimating, Project Scheduling, Building Construction Materials and Techniques, and Structures. The candidate should demonstrate a commitment to work with undergraduate construction students, and interact with members of the local construction community. The candidate should also demonstrate a commitment to diversity, equity, inclusion, and student success, as well as working with broadly diverse communities.

The successful candidate is expected to teach up to 3 courses each semester (spring and fall) and take an active role in advising the AGC Student Chapter. Courses will primarily be at the undergraduate level, but depending on education and qualifications, may also be at the graduate level. The salary for this 9-month contract, renewable annually, will be competitive, and commensurate with qualifications and experience. This position announcement is also available at <http://civil.unm.edu/>.

Application materials must include a letter of interest, current resume, 1-2 page statement of teaching interests, including the candidate's commitment to diversity, and a list of at least 3 references. Optional documents to attach are: syllabi and teaching evaluations for prior courses taught. For inquiries, contact Susan Bogus-Halter at sbogus@unm.edu. Applications must be posted to the UNM web site at <https://hr.unm.edu/unmjobs>, Requisition #req2557.

For best consideration, applications must be received by November 15, 2017.

UNM is a recipient of an ADVANCE Institutional Transformation grant from the NSF to promote and advance women and minority faculty in STEM fields, and SOE is partnering with the ADVANCE at UNM program to help recruit and retain an excellent and diverse faculty.

The University of New Mexico is committed to hiring and retaining a diverse workforce. We are an Equal Opportunity Employer, making decisions without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, veteran status, disability, or any other protected class.

For more information about the CE Department at the University of New Mexico please visit our web site at: <http://civil.unm.edu/>